The present invention relates to a recording apparatus and a recording method capable of printing (recording) an image on a recording medium.

2. Related Art

In the past, a recording apparatus (printer) which can record an image on a recording medium (typically, a sheet) is known. In the recording apparatus, for example, an ink cartridge which includes an ink container containing a plurality of colors of ink, and a recording unit which is removably mounted to the recording apparatus main body is known. Meanwhile, in the past, a recording apparatus which is mounted with an ink cartridge having a function of recording an image on a recording medium by using a plurality of colors of ink has been proposed. For example, JP-A-2006-143776 discloses an ink jet printer in which an ink container (cartridge) containing a plurality of colors of ink is removably mounted to an ink jet cartridge so that when the ink jet cartridge is mounted to a body side of a recording apparatus main body of the ink jet printer, the ink in the ink cartridge flows through a tube to the ink jet cartridge in the recording apparatus main body. In JP-A-2006-143776, two ink supply systems are used; that is, one for supplying ink from the ink cartridge via a tube; and one for directly supplying ink to the ink jet cartridge from an ink container of the ink cartridge itself. In the former ink supply system, there are advantages in that the ink cartridge has no need to receive ink at the time of exchange, the ink supply from the ink container to the ink jet cartridge is made easy when mounting the ink cartridge to the recording apparatus main body, and
